

Lewis Will Be Tried For Contempt On Wednesday; Strike Ends

Washington, April 12 (AP) — Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough today ordered John L. Lewis to face trial at 10 a. m. Wednesday on contempt of court charges.

Despite settlement of the 29-day mine stoppage, Goldsborough held Lewis had not purged himself of contempt charges.

The government has accused Lewis of contempt for alleged failure to comply with a court order of April 3 to end the strike.

Goldsborough ruled that the pension agreement has "absolutely nothing to do with the contempt proceeding."

He said that was his "final conclusion" on this point and would permit "no argument."

Washington, April 12 (AP)—John L. Lewis won $100-a-month pensions at age 62 for his miners today and gave the striking coal diggers word to go back to work.

Sends Telegram

Lewis had asked the pensions at age 60, but accepted a proposal from Senator Bridges (R-N. H.) to put the figure two years higher, Ezra Van Horn, representing the mine operators in negotiations with Bridges and Lewis, opposed the plan but was out-voted.

With the agreement, Lewis telegraphed his miners:

"Pensions granted. Agreement honored."

That was the word the striking miners were waiting for. They walked out four weeks ago on advice from Lewis that the mine owners had "dishonored" an agreement to provide welfare benefits.

Expected To Go To Work

At Pittsburgh, a district leader of the United Mine Workers said a return-to-work movement would begin upon receipt of the telegram.

"It looks to me like the miners will be going back to work," said William J. Hynes, president of UMW (Continued on page 8)

(By The Associated Press)

Colombia has broken diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia, the government radio said today, following the arrest of two Russian agents in connection with the revolution which devastated downtown Bogota, killed more than 300 Colombians and forced a revision in the government.

In calling home their diplomatic representatives to Russia, the Colombians took the same action that had been ordered last October by Brazil and Chile.

The official Bogota radio said 15 foreign agents in all had been found, some of them alive.

EXPECT MANY FISHERMEN TO GO FOR TROUT

An increase in the size of the small army which usually turns out for the opening date of the trout season was forecast today by County Treasurer D. C. Stallsmith, who pointed out that sales of fishing licenses are about five per cent higher this year than last.

With the season close at hand, many stores in the town were setting displays designed to lure the unwary trout fisherman into purchase of new reels, rods, flies and similar equipment designed to aid the fisherman in luring additional trout into his creel.

If this year follows the trend of previous years, more countians will be abroad in the earlier hours of April 15 than at any other day in the year.

Start at 5 A.M.

The season opens at 5 a.m. on Thursday and no fishing is permitted for anything in any stream stocked with trout between 5 p.m. on April 14 and 5 a.m. April 15.

Trout should be more abundant this year than before due to heavy stocking of many streams in the county, sportsmen point out.

The fisherman angling for the wiley brook, brown or rainbow trout between April 15 and July 31, the open season, can catch no more than 10 fish of combined species on any one day, according to state law, and each must be longer than six inches.

For those who find the trout unsatisfying it is noted that white, crapple, strawberry and calico bass, red-eye or goggle-eye rock bass, yellow perch, sunfish and catfish can be caught at any time of the year.

BULLETS DROP 10-7 DECISION TO MULE NINE

Coach Ira Plank's Gettysburg Mule Nine "dedicated" its spacious new field Saturday afternoon by rapping a 10-7 decision to Muhlenberg in a loosely played game.

Errors played a prominent part in the scoring of both teams and many blunders did not find their way into the box score.

Bill Cadzow started for the Bulls but was relieved by Bill Brown in the third frame after the first two batsmen reached base on a hit and a single. Before the game was over the Mules tabbed a pair of runs, profiting on loose fielding by the locals.

A pair of singles, a sacrifice and an error produced another Muhlenberg run in the fourth.

Bullets Score Pair
After Muhlenberg ran its lead to 6-0 in the top half of the fifth the bullets pushed over a pair of runs in their half. Atherholt reached first base on an error and Brown singled over second base, Atherholtumping home and Brown reaching third when the ball bounced into the field. Another error allowed Brown to tally.

Singles by Davis and Karobenik and a fly ball by Miller which came allowed to get away from him gave Muhlenberg three more tallies in the sixth, Miller racing all the way home on the blow.

Lefty Richter took the mound for Gettysburg in the seventh and blanked Muhlenberg in that frame. The Bullets pushed over a trio of runs on a single, two errors and a wild pitch.

Albright Next
Tome singled two runs across for the Bullets in the last of the eighth but Muhlenberg clinched the tilt with a pair of runs in the ninth.

The Plankmen will meet Albright here Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Dark-horse Wins Match At Augusta

Augusta, Ga., April 12 (AP) — The 12th annual masters' golf tournament is over, but not the memory of dark-horse Claude Harmon's win with a record tying 279.

For Harmon, a stocky club pro who winters at Seminole club, Palm Beach, Fla., and summers at Winged Foot, Mamaroneck, N. Y., the victory yesterday was worth $2,500. His 279 tied the masters' record set by Ralph Guldahl in 1939.

The 31-year-old Harmon came in five-strokes ahead of Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., who was second in the field of 57 of the world's best golfers.

In third place with 287 was Chick Harbert of Detroit who blew up on the first nine of the final round after starting the day as the chief threat to Harmon.

Training Camp Briefs

Greenville, S. C., April 12 (AP)—Manager Joe Kuhel is worried over the Washington Senators' lack of hitting. In the last two games against the Philadelphia Phillies they've made only ten hits and four runs. Dutch Leonard, former Senator, limited his ex-mates to six hits at Montgomery, Ala., yesterday in pitching the Phils to a 9-1 victory.

Charlotte, N. C., April 12 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox rejoice in the Cincinnati Reds here today for a three-game series that will be continued in Durham, N. C., and Roanoke, Va., the next two days. When informed by Manager Joe McCarthy that he would work here, John (Windy) McCall, the loquacious rookie flinger, appeared disappointed. "I thought I'd be saved for Roanoke, where I pitched last year and have about eight friends," he moaned.

San Antonio, Tex., April 12 (AP)—Manager Billy Meyer was still looking for a pitcher to hurl the season opener today after watching Kirby Higbe fail as the Pittsburgh Pirates bowed to the Chicago White Sox, 5-1, yesterday. Higbe went along okay for six innings, but was knocked out of the box in the seventh as the Sox took a 2-1 lead by bunching three of the nine hits they obtained off him. Relief Pitcher Elmer Singleton gave up three more runs in the final two frames.

Atlanta, Ga., April 12 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics meet the Atlanta Crackers tonight with Carl Scheib slated to open on the hill for the A's. Manager Connie Mack sent Dick Fowler, righthander, flying back to Philadelphia after yesterday's game in Birmingham, Ala., to have his arm examined. Fowler has been unable to let himself go all out on the mound for more than an inning or two at a time before his arm tires.

Houston, Tex., April 12 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals open a four-game series with the Chicago Cubs today, hoping to reach the 500 mark in spring exhibition games before arriving home for a two-game set with the St. Louis Browns next Saturday. The Cards bowed, 3-1, to their

SUTHERLAND MOURNED BY SPORTS WORLD

Pittsburgh, April 12 (AP) — The nation's sportsmen — athletic and spectator alike—today mourned Dr. John B. (Jock) Sutherland, the "silent Scot" of American college and professional football.

Hundreds of messages of condolence poured into the Steel City following the death yesterday of the 55-year-old coach of the national football league's Pittsburgh Steelers. He died after an operation for a malignant brain tumor.

Sutherland, who achieved his greatest fame at the University of Pittsburgh, was found wandering not far from his mired car last Wednesday near Bandana, Ky. Physicians first believed he was suffering from nervous exhaustion.

Native Of Scotland
After he was flown here Friday night a brain condition was discovered, but physicians were unable to remove the malignant tumor.

Sutherland left Pittsburgh about three weeks ago travelling alone on a combined business and scouting trip. Although he had complained of headaches, his death shocked his friends.

It was in Pittsburgh, both in pro and college ranks, that Sutherland achieved his greatest success after 15 years as coach at Pitt. He entered the pro ranks in 1940 as coach of the Brooklyn Dodgers. Then in the NFL. After serving in the navy as a Lieutenant-Commander in the World War II, he came "home" to coach the Steelers in 1946.

Sutherland never married. He came to this country as a youth from Cooper Angus, Scotland, where his mother and a sister, Louisa, still reside. Other survivors include a sister, Marion and a brother William, both of Pittsburgh.

Micholosen May Be Steeler Coach

Pittsburgh, April 12 (AP) — John Micholosen, first assistant coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers, was mentioned in many circles today as the man most likely to succeed Dr. John B. Sutherland as coach of the National football league team.

Micholosen long has been Sutherland's right-hand man, serving as an assistant coach under the famed coach at the University of Pittsburgh, the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Steelers.

Steeler officials said they probably wouldn't announce Sutherland's successor for at least 10 days.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, April 12 (AP) — It may not be springtime in the Rockies yet! But the season has progressed far enough to bring John Mooney out of hibernation with word of what's going on in the mountain area . . .

"Utah, which sent Lefty Gomez, Larry French, Dolph Camilli, Ernie Lombardi, Wally Berger, Wood Jensen and Bruce Cunningham, among others, to the big leagues from the old Utah, Idaho circuit years ago, returns to college baseball this year," writes the sage of the Salt Lake Telegram . . . "And who do you think Brigham Young U. has on the roster? 'Christy' Mathewson and Walter Johnson . . . However, this Walter Johnson is an outfielder . . . Mathewson is a pitcher — and anything further is speculative thinking." . . .

Mooney adds that the Pioneer league, self-styled fastest Class C league in the country, started last season with six umpires and finished with the same six . . .

OBSESSION POST
Reports from southern golfing centers indicate that by the time the touring pros get up here for the Goodall round robin tourney in May, virtually all of them will be wearing knickers instead of long pants . . . then the spectators will realize that it isn't just an occasional shot that's badly shanked.

MONDAY MATINEE
During his recent New England sojourn, when he landed in the hospital, Ty Cobb told visitors that he never paid much attention to spring training—except to get into condition . . . "In fact," Ty added, "the year I hit 420 I didn't go to camp at all and joined the club just two days before the season opened." . . . The new "Navy Olympics Club," whose name indicates its objective, has entered seven athletes in the Penn Relays . . . Wes Fesler, Ohio State football coach, is mourning the loss of two of his best freshmen prospects. Park Blubaugh quit football because of a troublesome knee and Bob Wright signed a baseball contract with the Detroit Tigers . . . Peggy Rawls, sophomore star of the Michigan State co-ed swimming team, is a sister of former Olympic champ Katy Rawls . . . The Pittsburgh Pirates complained that before an exhibition in Juarez, Mexico, they had to shoot the donkeys off the field . . . What happened after the game?

POSTPONE RACES
Williams Grove, Pa., April 12 (AP)—Postponed by rain, the inaugural auto races at the Williams Grove speedway will now be held on Saturday, April 17. Roy Richwine, operator of the track, who called off yesterday's program when a hard rain hit the track shortly before noon, said all the drivers would return for Saturday's program.

Beulah, Mich., April 12 (AP) — Blonde Mrs. Ella Jane McGuire, 33-year-old Pittsburgh housewife, is free of a charge of stealing $5,000 from her wealthy uncle's summer home here. SEGREGATION TO END AT CARLISLE

Carlisle, Pa., April 12 (AP) — The Carlisle public schools, one of the few systems in Pennsylvania separating its negro and white pupils, will end segregation at the end of the present school term.

Dr. Ray McCullough, school board president, said today 123 elementary negro pupils, now taught in one of the borough's five-school buildings, will be distributed among all the classes.

"There has been a feeling in the board for the past several years that it was an infringement of the law and moral rights," Dr. McCullough said.

He said the move was speeded up by the shortage of school rooms elsewhere while two rooms were available in the Wilson building, in which negro pupils have been taught by negro teachers.

"We were going to have to build an addition to one of our elementary schools," he explained. "This eliminates that temporarily until building costs come down."

Dr. McCullough said the first step to end segregation was taken several years ago when the eighth grade was eliminated at the Wilson building and negro students were sent to the Junior high school with whites.

He estimated there are approximately 140 negro pupils in the Carlisle schools against a white enrollment of 2,300 to 2,400.

ARABS AND JEWS CLAIMING CITY

Jerusalem, April 12 (AP)—The saw battle for Kastel reached a verbal standoff today. Both Jews and Arabs claimed the hilltop fortress, which commands part of the vital Jerusalem-Tel Aviv highway.

British Army sources said last night that counter-attacking Arabs had recaptured Kastel in an assault against the Jewish garrison there. The Arabs said today they were holding the town. A Haganah source said Kastel still is firmly in Jewish hands.

The mountain stronghold has changed hands almost daily for the past 10 days. Haganah, the Jewish militia, had re-entered the town Saturday night.

Eventually the side which holds the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv highway probably will determine whether the 100,000 Jewish in Jerusalem remain unconquered. Goods convoys to the Holy City pass over the highway before Kastel.

The Arabs deny claims broadcast by Haganah last night that the Arab village of Kalonia in the same area

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Another Fire: On Wednesday morning about five o'clock, the large frame building in Washington street, adjoining the residence of Prof. Jacobs, and occupied by Messrs. Saltzger & Frey, Jno. Laughlin and Abner Townsley, as a Paint and Coach shop, was discovered to be on fire. The alarm was given and the several engines immediately run to the spot, but in consequence of the highly combustible material of which the building and its contents were composed, the fire made such rapid progress, that all hope of saving it was soon abandoned. The efforts of the firemen were consequently mainly directed to the protection of the dwelling of Professor Jacobs, and other property immediately adjoining, and in this they were entirely successful. The loss is estimated at from $3,000 to $5,000—distributed among Messrs. Samuel Weaver, Henry Saltzger, George Frey, Abner Townsley, Peter Myers, John Sheads and sundry others. Mr. Saltzger lost all his books of accounts.

It is but right that we should notice efforts of the members of the several fire companies, whose persevering energy, from the breaking out of the fire until it was entirely subdued, deserves the warmest commendation. We wish we could say as much for the crowd of citizens—some of the property holders, too—who stood by with folded arms, resisted every solicitation to relieve the members of the Fire Companies from incessant and exhaustive duty.—Star.

Married: On Tuesday, by the Rev. Mr. Albert, Mr. Jacob Tressler, of York county, to Miss Elizabeth Overdier, of Union township, Adams county.

On the same day, by the same, Mr. Hezekiah Hann, to Miss Ann Perry—both of this county.

The murder of Gen. Canby by the treacherous Modoc Indians, has awakened deep indignation throughout the country and will endanger the "peace" policy of the government in dealing with the Indian tribes. Although the whole race ought not to be held responsible for the doings of Capt. Jack and his savage confederates, there is a growing conviction that the Indian is an essentially treacherous race. Gen. Sherman seems to incline to this conviction. In a conversation since the murder of Gen. Canby, he was asked if he did not believe this act of Indian treachery was unparalleled, upon which he replied

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
JACK MINER—BIRD LOVER

One of the genuinely great men of this generation was Jack Miner, the Canadian lover and protector of birds. He was born April 10th, 1865, and died November 4th, 1944. In Canada his birthday is set aside for commemoration, and for the following week people all over his neighboring country pay their tributes of love and admiration because of his great work in preserving Wild Life.

Jack Miner's significant work was for conservation—of Natural resources, Forests, Bird Life, and above all conservation of the coming generation. Jack Miner was a pioneer in conservation, and early established a Bird Sanctuary at Kingsville, Ontario, where he had his home among his thousands of beloved birds, which he fed and hospitalized. He would tag these birds—ducks and geese—and on each light tag would be a verse of Scripture. They were sent back to him from hunters all over America. When I visited the Sanctuary I saw bushes of them that had been returned.

Jack Miner used to pick up these bird friends of his, and they seemed to understand that he was their friend. Often a wounded bird would expend its last ounce of strength just to get to the bird hospital that he had established, knowing somehow that it would be cared for and healed. All bird life interested Jack Miner, all flowers, all children, all human beings, and everything in nature. On his place was a little cabin to which he would retire, watching his wild life friends and writing them about them.

The great men of America loved Jack Miner and paid tribute to him, when alive—Edison, Ford, Theodore Roosevelt, Premier Mackenzie King, and a host of others. School children especially were always welcomed to the Sanctuary, and are today, for there has been left a permanent Foundation to carry on this great man's work, superintended by his son Manly. It was natural that such a man should be deeply religious, as Jack Miner was. Wanton destruction of wild life aroused his deepest resentment.

No one can visit the Jack Miner Sanctuary without being thrilled and made better inside, and I am sure that no one leaves it without thanking God for such a great man and paying silent tribute to him in his heart.

SIGN OF SPRING
Once again the golfing preacher Drops his duty as a teacher,
And on Monday—day of leisure— Gives himself to worldly pleasure;
With the afternoon for rest meant, In the locker leaves his vestment;
And that he may play the better Wears a faded cap and sweater;
And upon the fairways grassy Asks his partner: "Spoon or brassie?"

Some for signs of spring are waiting, For the day when birds are mating,
Others feel their pulses throbbing' When they glimpse the first red robin.

Some say winter isn't over Until green becomes the clover,
Some would have the heavens bluer, But for me one sign is truer:
"Spring is here!" I shout. "Get drums out!"
When the golfing parson comes out.

"No, sir; treachery is inherent in the Indian character. . . He says the President is deeply affected by the death of General Canby, and fully concurs with him in believing that no mercy whatever should be shown toward the Modocs.

Lava Bed Camp, April 11—Yesterday afternoon five Indians and four squaws came into our camp and made presents of clothing and provisions by the Peace Commissioners. . . This morning Boston Charley came in and told the Commissioners that Captain Jack and five other Indians would meet the Commissioners outside our lines. . . About an hour later General Canby, Dr. Thomas, Mr. A. B. Meacham and Mr. Dyer, with Frank Riddle and his squaw for interpreter, started for the place appointed. Mr. Meacham made a short speech to the Indians, followed by General Canby, and then Dr. Thomas. Then Captain Jack made a speech, asking for Hot Creek and Cottonwood, places now occupied by Fairfield and Dorris for reservations. Mr. Meacham told Captain Jack it was not possible to give him what he asked. Schonchin told Meacham to say no more. . . Captain Jack got up, turned back and exclaimed "all ready." He then drew his pistol and snapped the cap on General Canby. He then cocked his pistol again and fired, and General Canby fell dead, shot under the eye. Schonchin then shot Meacham in the shoulder and head, but he is still alive. Boston Charley and another Indian shot and killed Dr. Thomas. Dyer and Riddle made their escape.

THREE POWERS GOING AHEAD IN W. GERMANY

Washington, April 12 (AP)—Over angry Russian protests, the United States, Britain and France have decided to go ahead at once with their own plans for unifying Western Germany economically.

They may decide to set up a separate political regime as well. The decision to hold another three-power meeting in London to blue-print Germany's future was reported authoritatively today as the conflict between the Soviet Union and the West entered a critical week. It is a week which may be climaxed by last minute moves on both sides to try to influence the outcome of the extremely important Italian election next Sunday.

New Tensions Ahead
Some European diplomats who have conferred recently with top American officials believe the issue of peace in Europe may be determined by the Italian voting.

That the week will bring new alarms and tensions seems certain. Whether it may also shed light on some of the dimmer areas of Soviet-Western rivalry remains to be seen. Washington officials are especially hopeful, however, that the whole question of Communist participation in the Bogota revolution may be cleared up within a few days.

Effect Far-Reaching
That violent outbreak struck a blow at American prestige by disrupting the inter-American conference in session there.

Some Colombian government leaders as well as some other Latin American officials already have charged that Communists engineered the whole bloody and destructive affair. United States officials, however, while reporting that the Communists tried to make capital of the violence once it started, have refrained from assessing full blame.

The Bogota incident derives at least part of its importance from the impact it may have on European thinking in a critical period. In this respect it is examined by diplomatic authorities here much the same way that the conflict between Russia and the Western powers in Berlin has been studied—for evidence of relative strength between East and West.

Timely Notes On Feeding Chicks

Emphasis from the first feeds chicks receive until the last hint of advice on the subject should be placed on sanitation. Without careful sanitation many benefits from otherwise proper feeding will be nullified. Then, of course, if proper feeds and proper feeding are combined with cleanliness, success will more likely follow.

Chicks should be fed soon after they are removed from the incubator or received from the hatchery. Certainly their first meal should be offered before they are 48 hours old. The practice in vogue several years ago of waiting until chicks were 72 hours old before feeding them is generally discredited in recent years by sound experience.

In this time of high-costing poultry feeds many poultry owners are asking for formulas for starting and growing mashies by which they may mix their own chick feeds. We rarely advise this course unless the owner is equipped by experience and supplies to bring this home-mixed ration up near the excellence of most reputable commercial mashies. But here are two formulas advised by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, either of which is sound:

Mash No. 1

Ground Yellow Corn	35 lbs.
Ground wheat	20 lbs.
Soybean oil meal	27 lbs.
Fish meal	3 lbs.
Meat scrap	3 lbs.
Alfalfa leaf meal	5 lbs.
Riboflavin supplement (a)	2.7 lbs.
Steamed bone meal	2 lbs.
Ground limestone	1.2 lbs.
Manganized salt (b)	1 lb.
Vitamin A-and-D oil	.1 lb.
Total	100 lbs.

Mash No. 2

Ground yellow corn	32 lbs.
Finely ground oats	10 lbs.
Wheat middlings	10 lbs.
Wheat bran	5 lbs.
Soybean oil meal	28 lbs.
Fish meal	3 lbs.
Alfalfa leaf meal	5 lbs.
Riboflavin supplement (a)	2.7 lbs.
Steamed bone meal	2 lbs.
Ground limestone	1.2 lbs.
Manganized salt (b)	1 lb.
Vitamin A-and-D oil	.1 lb.
Total	100 lbs.

(a) Riboflavin may be furnished in the form of dried whey, dried distiller's solubles, or other product containing at least 15,000 micrograms of riboflavin per pound.

(b) This is a specially prepared salt composed of 100 parts common salt and 5 parts technical anhydrous manganous sulfate.

Neither oyster shell nor limestone should be supplied chicks when either of these mashies is fed which contain limestone.

If green vegetables and other leafy green materials are available and are fed, alfalfa leaf meal may be omitted.

If chicks enjoy plenty of direct sunshine and consume plenty of green feed, the vitamin A and D oil may be omitted after the third or fourth week.

Poultrymen in doubt about mixing mashies should feed one of the reliable commercial starting mashies. And all owners are invited to write the editor all the poultry questions they desire.

Timely Notes For Rose Growers

Late March is a busy and important period in the plans of successful rose growers. There are numerous pressing tasks which cannot be postponed—pruning, spraying, feeding and planting. There are preparations to meet attacks of insects, and of course, time to dream of such wonderful roses as no one ever before has grown. All these are on the late March calendar.

Hybrid teas, perpetuals and certain climbers should be pruned before leaves open. Beginners may have some trouble determining which climbers to prune in March and which to prune after the blooms fade in summer. Here is the rule: All climbers which produce their blooms on new canes each year (canes which started from the base the previous summer) should be pruned after they bloom; climbers which produce their blooms on laterals from the old canes should be pruned in the spring before growth starts.

If fungous diseases—mildew, black-spot and rust—were troublesome last year, spray roses with Bordeaux mixture before leaves open, including the surrounding soil. Many growers prefer lime-sulphur for this dormant role, using concentrate at the rate of 1 part concentrate with 8 to 9 parts water. Of course, this should not be applied after leaves begin to open.

With safety.

Late October planting is preferable in this region, but growers may plant roses now with little danger of failure, providing three facts are kept in mind: (1) Buy plants with roots fully protected from excessive drying; (2) Plant without exposing the roots to sun and air for more than a few seconds; (3) Keep the spring-planted roses amply supplied with moisture over the first summer.

If any branches show evidences of canker, prune them out now and burn them. This advice has no seasonal limitations. It should be put into action whenever cankers are discovered.

Plant lice will be the first insect enemies of roses to appear. It is easy for these pale green pests to multiply and cause severe injuries before they are detected. Therefore, inspect the new shoots every day or two and kill lice off with a nicotine sulfate spray or dust applied liberally and promptly.

Spring feeding is not so important if rose soils have been wisely selected and properly prepared before planting. However, some well composted manure may be worked into the top soil if growth has previously been unsatisfactory because of lack of fertility. Even some complete fertilizer may be added in extreme cases. But never should fertilizer be considered a substitute for natural soil fertility or an abundance of organic matter. Fertilizers are more like pie at the end of a meal; natural fertility is the main meal—always.

All rose growers are invited to look over their plantings and plans, and if any questions remain unanswered, then write the editor. This is the proper time of year to get all rose problems solved—not after the problems become critical.

About The FARM

The planting of lilacs should be done early, as they are among the first shrubs to start growth.

Set out standards and dwarf fruit trees, bramble berries, bush fruits and strawberries.

Sow all varieties of peas, radishes, carrots, leaf lettuce, parsnips, spinach, beets and Swiss chard. Also plant onion sets in well fertilized and limed soil in rows fifteen inches apart. Barely cover the sets and place them erect at an interval of three to four inches.

If you have not attended to the lawn, spread plant food now and rake bare spots, reseed, roll or tamp.

April is a good time to divide African violets.

Sow seeds of hardy annuals where they are to flower.

Set out pansy plants as soon as the ground is ready.

Sweet peas should be sown in well prepared ground as soon as possible.

Remove the hilling soil from roses after the tops have begun to grow. Give an application of a complete plant food to the plants.

Look over stored roots of such things as dahlias, cannas and caladiums. Dahlias and cannas may be divided now. Place your order for the new varieties.

PREPARE NOW FOR BOUQUETS NEXT AUTUMN

Spring is the time to plan a few bouquets for next winter; the annual cutting garden will provide this material with little or no trouble.

The best known "everlasting" is probably the strawflower (Helichrysum), with shiny double daisies of paper-like texture in a variety of colors, both subdued and brilliant. They are attractive in the garden as well as in bouquets. The rose or white flowers of Acoelinium look like semi-double daisies and are as easy to grow as strawflowers. Clover-like blossoms of Globe amaranth (Gomphrena) are attractive in white, rose, ruby and purple; this plant is a useful bedder, too. Cockscomb is too well known to need description; besides the usual crimson, there are new shades of pink, gold, carmine, salmon, rose and orange.

Everlastings not so well known include two annual Sea Lavenders, Statice sinuata and Statice suworowi, with their mist-like sprays of tiny flowers in blue, rose, yellow and pastel tones, which give a gay border effect as well as useful winter flowers. Cupid's Dart (Catananche) is a perennial which flowers the first year from seed and bears blue daisy-like blossoms. Swan River Everlasting (Rhodanthus) has small pink or white silky flowers, on slender foot-high plants. Small everlasting pompons with pointed petals are borne on Immortels (Xeranthemum). The colors are white, purple and rose. Ornamental grasses in both tall and dwarf-growing forms bear delightful flower panicles for winter flower arrangements.

In preparing everlasting flowers for winter use, plan to harvest them when the flowers are only half open. Tie the branches together loosely and hang upside down in a cool airy place until dry. Paper bags help to keep winter bouquet material dust-free until ready for use.

Heuchera Splendid For Rock Gardens

Heuchera, or coral bells, grows from twelve to eighteen inches tall. Nevertheless it is a splendid rock-garden plant because the foliage seldom lifts itself more than three or four inches above the ground. The total height refers to the stems, which rise from the ground and bear attractive little bell-shaped flowers intermittently from late spring until late fall. If planted in the perennial border it should find its place in the front, as otherwise its graceful beauty would be hidden.

If you examine the flowers closely you will be surprised to find that the actual flowers are insignificantly small and that the showy parts are the bell-shaped calyxes which carry the color. In Heuchera sanguinea they are bright red but there are other varieties in which they are white, rose or different shades of pink.

TRUMAN'S PATH ROUGH AT END OF THIRD YEAR

Washington, April 12 (AP)—Harry S. Truman became President of the United States three years ago today. Those three years have been rough since he became President April 12, 1945, the day President Roosevelt died.

Mr. Roosevelt had snapped a stinging whip over Congress which his Democrats had run for 12 years. Mr. Truman tried to be different.

He went into the White House like a lamb, anxious to get along with Congress, dashing up to the capitol for lunch with his old Senate chums.

And in turn, everyone seemed friendly toward him, with a sort of "give him a chance" air—Democrats and Republicans alike.

Everyone could afford to be friendly all around at the time, which was April, 1945, because:

1. We were still up to our necks in World War II, although winning it.

2. And the 1948 elections were still three years away. Why throw bricks out of season?

Germany got knocked off. Then Japan. Mr. Truman and his Democrats backed the United Nations. So did the Republicans.

In September, 1945, Mr. Truman made a batch of suggestions, some for immediate use, some long-range.

They wrapped up his ideas on how this country could walk down the road to peace and prosperity.

He got the ice water treatment from Congress when his own Democrats were in control. Congress did almost nothing he suggested.

He was so burned up by Christmas time that he went on the air in an appeal to the people to jog their Congressmen into action.

He's had a rough time ever since. And in November, 1946, the people elected a Republican Congress. Some of his own Democrats urged him to quit when that happened.

The Republicans, controlling Congress since January, 1947, have handled home problems pretty much their own way, trampling on Mr. Truman's notions.

It's been different on foreign affairs. Just as in wartime, the Democrats and Republicans have more or less closed ranks to stop Communism.

Party Troubles Develop
Both parties backed him too on the European Recovery plan for helping 16 European, non-Communist nations.

And both parties seem willing to back him on building up this country's armed forces—just in case there's a World War III.

But some of his biggest bruises have come from within his own party. They may mean he won't get a chance to run for President in the November elections—or get beaten if he does.

When he proposed his civil rights program for bettering the treatment of Negroes in the south, the southern Democrats turned against him. They don't want the Democrats to run him for President.

This southern feeling has started other splits in his party, with some of the city bosses looking at him with a sour eye.

And when Mr. Truman fired his Secretary of Commerce, Henry Wallace, in 1946 he started something no one then thought would happen.

Wallace has set up a third party, is running himself for President, and is bound to bite into Democratic votes if he stays around till election time.

All this has given the Republicans their best hope of capturing the White House since Mr. Roosevelt moved in there back in 1933.

County Native Gets Penn State Promotion

Earl B. Stavely, a native of Littlestown and professor of electrical engineering at Penn State college, will become dean of the engineering school July 1, succeeding Royal M. Gerhardt.

The announcement followed the resignation of William S. Hoffman, member of the Penn State staff since 1911 and registrar since 1923. The resignation is effective February 28, 1949.

College officials said Gerhardt, assistant dean of the school of engineering since 1942, will replace Hoffman with the title of dean of admissions and registrar. Hoffman will also be given the new title with emeritus ranking.

Stavely's promotion is effective when Gerhardt enters Hoffman's office as an assistant. Stavely has been a member of the Penn State staff since 1916.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD RACKETEERING CASE ON TRIAL

Washington, April 12 (AP)—With one defendant mysteriously missing, the government ordered a group of labor union figures to trial today in a four-year-old racketeering case. Joseph V. Moreschi, international president of the AFL Hod Carriers' Union; his son and two other national officers of the 400,000-member union are among those charged.

The ten defendants, including one woman, are accused of helping to loot the war-swollen treasuries of three union locals of more than $75,000. The locals involved are those here, at La Plata, Md., and at Quantico, Va.

Kelly Was Leader
An indictment returned against the group in 1944 after a full year's grand jury investigation said the money was used to: (A) finance an elaborate night club in downtown Washington, (B) buy large stocks of whiskey and champagne, (C) pay for lavish improvements to the union men's private homes, and (D) build workers' housing accommodations, the rents for which the defendants kept.

The indictment pictured Larry Kelly, colorful head of the union's District of Columbia Area Council, as the ringleader. Kelly testified briefly at the start of the grand jury investigation. Then he disappeared. After the indictment the government pressed an extensive search for Kelly.

It found that he had enlisted in the merchant marine and worked on boats carrying war supplies to the South Pacific. A little later he was reported to have died at sea.

A grave marker in New Guinea carries Kelly's name, but the Justice Department still lists him as a fugitive from justice. The reason is that, while the man who died aboard the merchant ship Clarence Darrow answered Kelly's general description, the service serial number taken from the dead man's body was not Kelly's.

"Since then," Special Assistant Attorney General Leo Rover told a reporter, "a number of people have told us they've seen Kelly alive here in Washington. We don't know if this is true. But we are not conceding that he is dead."

SUBSIDIZED PRESS IS ONE IN SHACKLES

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Sometimes it does seem as though our cantankerous old world had reversed itself and was spinning us back into the Middle Ages.

With totalitarianism perched like a carrion crow on the backs of many stricken countries, we now have the unhappy spectacle of the United Nations Conference on Freedom of Information at Geneva adopting a resolution in favor of permitting government subsidies for national news agencies.

A subsidized press is a shackled press.

To be sure only 21 of the some half hundred delegations voted, the result being 16 to 5 in favor of the resolution. Both the United States and Russia voted against it, though just why the Muscovites should oppose it isn't clear, since the press in their country is ruled with an iron hand. Of course the resolution carries no authority and is merely an expression of opinion, but unfortunately it does represent retrogression.

No Such Thing In U. S.

There is no such thing as a subsidized national news agency in the United States, but during many years of newspaper work abroad I've encountered plenty of them. In fact, the free agencies have been the exception to the rule.

Governments don't subsidize news agencies for purely altruistic reasons, and the minute an agency accepts such a gratuity it ipso facto commits itself to serve the donor. True, the government may not be exacting in its demands for space and may allow the agency a free hand with news in which the state isn't concerned. But where the government has a special interest it will summon reporters from the agency and hand them such "news" as officialdom wishes circulated for propaganda value. Frequently, too, the government will suppress news which it doesn't wish published.

Then there are peculiar complications in countries that have constitutions under which governments can be kicked out of office at any time by an adverse majority in Parliament. The subsidized agency has to change the color of its news, like a chameleon on a variegated wall, to suit the hue of the new government. Today the government is leftist, tomorrow it's middle-of-the-road, and the next day it's to the right. What is "news" today isn't "news" tomorrow because the government has changed.

There can be no freedom of information if there is any form of government control beyond that provided by laws dealing with libel and the like. There can be no subsidy without a corresponding governmental interference with the press.

UNVEIL LONDON STATUE TO FDR

By GLENN WILLIAMS

London, April 12 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt tugged a red, white and blue bunting from a bronze statue today and unveiled Britain's memorial to her husband, who died three years ago this afternoon.

King George VI was the central figure among thousands who watched. The former first lady's pull on a silver cord revealed a 10-foot statue showing the late President standing bare-headed with his cloak thrown back. Beneath it is the simple inscription: "Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

The crowd stood in silence as the King moved past honor guards of American and Royal Marines and placed a wreath at the statue's base. Then Mrs. Roosevelt and other officials placed wreaths beside the King's offering.

In the pale yellow sunlight of the April morning hundreds of Britain's great and thousands of her humble kept a reverent silence. Buildings ringing the square were packed. Heads craned from every window. The rooftops were jammed with people. A squadron of British jet fighters whistled over the square. When the ceremony ended, Winston Churchill walked slowly around the base of the statue. He stood silently a moment. Then he brushed at his eyes with his hands.

HAUNTED HOLIDAY

By Cameron Dockery

AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 12
Vince Bonnay stared the length of the hall on which his own door opened and was startled to have a clear view of the trees and flower garden that lay between the garage and swimming pool. The door that he had thought opened on a hall closet, apparently led to an outside stairway. He went toward it and had almost reached it when he heard the sobbing.

There was something desperate and pitiful about it, something terribly heart-rending, and it came from Sonia's room.

He hesitated. Simeon Mannley was underserving of such grief and Sonia had seemed incapable of suffering it. Evidently he had misjudged her; the muffled cries were undeniably genuine. He knocked softly.

In a moment a choked "Who ees eet?" answered him.

"Vince Bonnay," he said, "Is there anything I can do?"

The door was flung open. Sonia stood there in the same delicate airy negligee she had worn on the terrace at two the previous morning. Tears trembled in her lashes.

"Ah, Commandair," she gasped gently, "I am sorry I deesturb you."

"You shouldn't go on like this—you'll make yourself ill."

She pressed her handkerchief to her eyes. "There's been a shock."

"Yes," he said gruffly, "I can see where you'd be upset."

She peeked at him uncertainly over the lace edge of her handkerchief.

"Perhaps my grief ees a leetle selfish," she admitted. "Eet ees not all for Simeon—eet ees in part for me, Sonia."

Such an admission was the last thing Vince expected. "What do you mean?"

"I am so lost . . . so alone. Sophie hates me, you hat seen that, non? Julia ees so jeune-fille, so . . . what shall I say—naive. She too resents me."

He felt himself wavering. She hadn't exaggerated; he had noticed that Sophie avoided her and he couldn't forget the note of contempt in Julia's voice when she had mentioned Sonia to him on the ride to Kanan.

He was in a helpless predicament, that is if a pretty woman armed with melting liquid brown eyes could be considered entirely helpless. To Vince's horror those eyes suddenly filled with fresh tears and Sonia bowed her face into her cupped hands. "Veenice, Veenice, what weel I do?" she wailed.

It seemed quite natural for his arms to go around her trembling body—it was pleasant to find himself patting her chiffon-covered back reassuringly and murmuring sympathetically, "There, there, now, don't cry, Sonia."

But it was unpleasantly startling to look up and see Julia Mannley standing in the hall watching him, her face a peculiar mixture of sheer amazement and suppressed fury.

With a faint groan Vince hoisted his long body out of bed and after lighting a cigarette balanced himself on the window ledge.

Since turning in he had lain awake, his mind a fertile field for the suspicions that flitted through it like aimless shadows.

Moreover it disgusted him that he was unable to forget the expression on Julia's face or the ironical scene that had followed her discovery.

After he had urged Sonia to dry her eyes and come down for a cocktail he had raced down the outside stairway after Julia. She was walking rather hurriedly toward the bluff but when he called she stopped and eyed him expectantly.

"Hey, wait a minute. You're not angry, are you?" he demanded.

"Angry? Why should I be angry?" "I don't know why but you had a funny look on your face." He felt relieved, "I was afraid you'd misunderstand the situation."

"How could I, it was pretty obvious, wasn't it?"

He plunged ahead recklessly. "Sonia's so alone, she needs sympathy."

"Alone. That woman has never been alone in her life!"

A warning bell chimed in Vince's brain. "What do you mean, Julie?"

"Oh heavens, do you need a diagram! Sonia is a woman of the world; she apparently prefers to make her way in it by being a parasite—going from one man to another."

He felt impelled to turn her over his knees but instead his face flushed and he frowned with annoyance. "Aren't you being a bit childish?"

"Childish!" she exclaimed angrily. "Childish! It's you who are being childish! Uncle Sim is gone, likewise his money as far as Sonia is concerned, therefore, she's looking about for other game. It looks like you're it."

Vince burst out laughing, "Julie, you've lost your sense of proportion! A junior naval officer doesn't rate much of a salary—I'm sure as attractive a woman as Sonia can do much better."

She gave her head an airy toss. "Perhaps it's any port in a storm." That had nettled him, Julia was being spiteful and naive he decided. To counteract her gibe he devoted himself to Sonia for the rest of the day and evening but Julia was well taken care of by Bissett and even the musical tinkle of Sonia's quickly suppressed laughter couldn't dispel the oppressive atmosphere that saturated Kanan.

The shut-off game room with the policeman on guard at the door in a tilted chair was a constant reminder of Simeon Mannley and the fact that only last night he had been their host, exuberant and dominating in his duties. The very echo of his rumbling laughter seemed to pervade the walls and the closed doors of his estate.

Vince stretched leisurely and gazed with longing at the Canal. A swim would be acceptable now but he couldn't afford to be taken for a crackpot considering the present state of affairs.

It was then that he noticed the glow . . .

At first he thought it merely a wavering reflection of the moonlight, then he realized that it was too orange for that and was growing too bright. Only one thing on earth gave off that sort of light—fire!

CANDIDATES CLAIM VICTORY

Omaha, April 12 (AP)—A ding-dong battle that may bring victory to any one of three candidates was forecast today in Nebraska's Republican voting tomorrow on seven GOP presidential possibilities.

From the worried camps of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota came cautious claims of success in the 1948 campaign's first free-for-all contest for the voters' favor.

Stassen, returning for a windup speech tonight, was even more careful than his leading opponents in predicting the outcome.

In sharp contrast to the confident way in which he forecast beforehand the victory which later came to him in Wisconsin, the former Minnesota governor told his backers in a statement: "If you follow through to the closing of the polls, I believe we will win first place in a close race in this primary."

Senator Hugh Butler, speaking in behalf of Taft, told a reporter he is "very confident" the Ohioan is going to win.

Dewey, fighting to keep his campaign for the nomination from being switched off the main track, said he is confident the program he outlined in 13 Nebraska speeches will win the support of the state's GOP voters.

U.N. Drives For Palestine Truce

New York, April 12 (AP)—The United States stepped up today its determined drive for a truce in Palestine.

United Nations Security Council delegates were called to meet in the U. S. delegation office to talk things over.

The council members have just about given up hope of persuading the Arab higher committee of Palestine and the Jewish agency for Palestine to back down from the conditions which so far have prevented agreement on a cease fire arrangement.

Confronted by this continuing disagreement, the council members were represented as feeling it is time for the Security Council to lay down the terms of a truce. Everyone was expected to attend the closed, informal meeting except Andrei A. Gromyko, of Russia.

Firemen Blasted From Burning Home

McKeesport, Pa., April 12 (AP)—Amid flying pieces of furniture, three firemen were blown out of a house today while fighting a fire. They and five other persons were injured in the fire and explosion, which shook houses for a block around.

Capt. Joseph Surgeon, one of the casualties, expressed belief gas in the cellar caused the blast. He said: "I saw a ball of fire. Then, there was a terrific explosion and all three of us were blown out of the house. It's a miracle we weren't killed."

The concussion knocked the house from its foundation. The blast occurred after Mrs. Erna Simpson, one of the occupants, had rescued her bulldog, goldfish and canary.

Reorganize State Engineering Bureau

Harrisburg, April 12 (AP)—A complete reorganization of the engineering bureau of the Department of Health has just been completed by Dr. Norris W. Vaux, state Secretary of Health.

Dr. Vaux said the changes were made necessary by the rapid development of the state's clean streams program.

Under the new set-up, Dr. Vaux explained, the various phases of the state's pollution abatement work will be consolidated to facilitate the many operations that are involved in clearing up the commonwealth's rivers and streams.

H. G. Knox, who was recently appointed as technical advisor of the bureau has been placed in charge of the entire clean streams project.

HIGHLIGHTS OF POLITICS

(By The Associated Press)

Nebraska's all-star Republican show tomorrow holds top political billing but other Presidential campaign developments vied for attention today.

These were the highlights:

1. A group of southern Democratic state chairmen opened a two-day session in Atlanta to discuss the controversial civil rights program which has provoked a split in party ranks. Before they lay an appeal from a midwest Democratic conference to "unite behind our platform and candidates." The midwest group representing 13 states went on record at Des Moines yesterday in support of President Truman whose candidacy is bitterly opposed by the Dixie rebels.

2. A lawmaker's unofficial poll of House Republicans showed Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York rated as having the best chance of being elected if nominated. Out of 116 ballots Dewey received 24 votes, Senator Arthur Vandenberg 19, Gen. Douglas MacArthur 18, Speaker Joseph W. Martin 13, Senator Robert A. Taft 13, Harold E. Stassen 9, Gen. Dwight Warren of California, 1 each.

Rep. Busbey (R-Ill.) who conducted the survey, also asked House Democratic members to pick the man they regard as most likely to win if nominated. Of the 37 votes cast, 15 went to Eisenhower, 8 to Truman, 5 to Vandenberg and 2 to Speaker Martin. Others receiving 1 vote were Senator Alben Barkley (D-Ky.) Justice William O. Douglas, James A. Farley, Taft and Henry A. Wallace.

3. Third party backers of Henry A. Wallace decided in Chicago to follow the Republicans and Democrats in one respect—by choosing Philadelphia for their convention July 24-25. And the Wallace group invaded Mr. Truman's home state to organize a progressive party of Missouri to push their candidate.

4. The Americans for Democratic action declared in Pittsburgh that the nation has a "right" to call on such men as Eisenhower or Supreme Court Justice Douglas for the presidency. Apparently dropping Mr. Truman, the ADA statement applauded his civil right and the foreign aid programs.

West Pa. Rivers Are Rising Rapidly

Pittsburgh, April 12 (AP)—The Allegheny and Monongahela rivers fed by rapidly rising headwater streams, were on the rise today after a two-inch rainfall in less than 24 hours.

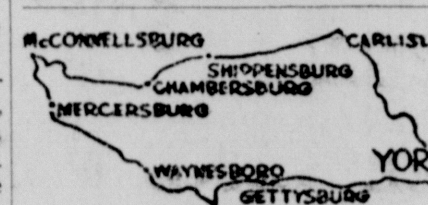

The Weather Bureau at Pittsburgh said flood danger along either stream was not imminent, but noted it was still raining in the river basins.

Punxsutawney on Mahoning creek had the fastest rate of river rise with 5.2 feet in 14 hours. Allegheny river readings were: Port Allegheny, 3.8 foot rise; Olean, N. Y., 3.5; Warren, 2.2; Meadville, 1.7; Franklin, 3.8. Parkers Landing, 4.1.

The Monongahela was rising at a somewhat slower rate. The rivers are expected to crest at 23 feet at Pittsburgh's Point, tomorrow morning. A 25-foot stage floods lowlands here.

In the Vandergrift area the Kiski river was rising rapidly, threatening Route 66 between Apollo and North Vandergrift.

Homesick Mule Is Killed; Man Hurt

A homesick mule, perhaps seeking his former green pastures, broke from his new owner's stable early Sunday and met death on the Carlisle-Gettysburg highway, near Goodyear.

The mule, property of James H. Howe, Goodyear, leaped from the side of the road into the path of a car operated by John Hays, Gardner, R. 2. Hays escaped injury but Mrs. Hays suffered severe lacerations of the right cheek and left leg and was admitted to the Carlisle hospital.

Howe said he purchased the mule a few days ago. Sometime Saturday night the animal slipped his bridle, somehow opened the stable door, and fled. Hays said the mule appeared suddenly from the roadside. The Hays car was badly damaged. Mrs. Hays was treated by Dr. David Stayer, Mt. Holly Springs, before being taken to the hospital.

OWNERS CHASE GOLD HUNTERS

Highlands, N. J., April 12 (AP)—The hunt for buried pirate treasure on the banks of the Shrewsbury river turned today into a battle of property lines.

With 21 old coins and the latch of an ancient trunk already uncovered, property owners posted "no trespassing" signs and summoned police reinforcements to halt the swarms of fortune hunters converging on the beaches.

Only place still open to all comers was the strip of municipally owned beach, already pock-marked by large craters left by the early rush of treasure hunters since the first old coins were found last week.

A coin dealer said the first finds were Portuguese doubloons worth about 75 each. He said it was possible pirate treasure.

Beachfront property owners had difficulty keeping their land clear of treasure hunters over the weekend.

More police were made available today, but authorities said they expected only a small portion of the week-end crowd. Men, women and children armed with old screens, pails and shovels toiled through the sands yesterday, many not quitting even during a sharp rain which fell through the afternoon.

CROWD FLEES FIRE

Seranton, Pa., April 12 (AP)—Approximately 700 patrons of the Cornford theater fled to safety as fire, accompanied by explosion, wrecked an adjoining building in the business district. Shortly after an explosion in the two-story building adjacent to the theater shook the movie house yesterday, ushers hurried through the aisles reassuring the audience and advising them to leave the building.

Lake Success, April 12 (AP)—Refusal of the Czechoslovak government to debate charges against it raises a new question for the Security Council.

A formal council session was set for late today to receive the Prague government's answer to an invitation extended last week to take part in the discussion.

The council is considering charges by Chile that Russia interfered in Czechoslovak affairs and helped Communists there seized government in February. It must decide what to do next.

Czechs Won't Appear
Valdimir Houdak, Czechoslovak envoy, notified Trygve Lie, U.N. secretary-general, late Saturday that his government would not appear before the council. His letter to Lie said the discussion of internal matters of Czechoslovakia in the Security Council is contrary to the basic principles of the U.N. charter.

Council members who had planned to call for a sub-committee to investigate the Chilean charges said they would study the case again in view of the Prague government's refusal to talk about it.

They said they did not favor setting up another commission which

RADIO SHOW IS DUMMY RUN

Hollywood, April 12 (AP)—Charlie McCarthy's radio program last night was just a "dummy run."

Comedian Edgar Bergen put the usual impudent words in Charlie's mouth and the quips came out all right but a nationwide broadcasting company audience didn't hear them. An unexplained slip-up in telephone line relay connections turned the $25,000 show into just another rehearsal for Bergen and his troupe and a half-hour of piano music for listeners.

The program originated—or was supposed to—at Claremont, 25 miles east of here. NBC said its program engineer checked cables from the stage to the jackbox and that the microphones were carrying sound from the auditorium. From that point, it vanished.

NBC is checking to determine who will have to foot the $25,000 bill but the sponsors are protected against such an eventuality.

Line trouble also briefly blacked out the Jack Benny program. Benny was off the air for two and one-half minutes when trouble developed between Palm Springs, Calif., where the program originated, and Hollywood.

Another line trouble casualty was the Elmo Roper program, a public opinion poll analysis. The first 25 seconds were lost on the Columbia Broadcasting System network yesterday afternoon because of difficulties on a line to New York from New Orleans, where the program originated.

Commenting on the Edgar Bergen blackout, an NBC spokesman said in New York that when an entire program is lost, the cast is paid and the network makes a rebate to the sponsor.

TO SELL CHAPEL

Philadelphia, April 12 (AP) — The government today offered a surplus army chapel for sale. C. E. Tracy, regional director for the War Assets administration, said the chapel, a frame structure 81 by 37 feet, will be sold from its site at the Army Air base, New Castle, Del., only for use as a shrine to World War II dead or as a House of Worship.

The asking price, Tracy said, is $1400.

Rome, April 12 (AP) A nation-wide, Communist-called, one-hour general strike went off as ordered in Italy this morning. First reports, however, indicated the work stoppage fell far short of achieving the general paralysis predicted by its instigators, the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor (CGIL). The strike was called to protest the slayings of 35 Sicilian leaders over the past two years.

Lewis Will

District 4, which includes the rich Uniontown coal and coke producing area.

"I think that's a fine settlement," Hynes said.

The events went like this:

Lewis, Bridges and Van Horn met at 8:30 a. m. and announced the pension settlement after an hour's conference. When the meeting broke up, K. C. Adams, public relations man for the United Mine Workers, gave reporters a statement from Bridges.

Apparently the statement was prepared before the meeting convened, indicating Lewis and Bridges were certain of the outcome when they met with Van Horn.

At 10 a. m., Justice T. Alan Goldsborough convened court to hear the contempt case against Lewis.

Lewis stayed away. His presence was not actually required because the proceedings were on a motion to "show cause" — (why he wasn't in contempt) — a proceeding ordinarily handled by attorneys.

Goldsborough said he was disposed to put the proceedings over until

Wednesday, because the union had already filed a written answer to the rule to "show cause."

But Welly K. Hopkins, United Mine Workers counsel, said he would like to make an oral statement. The judge, saying "This is a matter of great public interest," consented to hear both him and the government. Assistant Attorney General H. Graham Morrison, then launched into the government's recital of the events leading to the strike.

Bridges described the pension plan he advanced as a "tentative one."

He came into the case because last Saturday he accepted a post as "neutral" trustee of the Miners Welfare fund.

This fund, running into millions a year, was created by an agreement last year for 10 cents a ton royalty on every ton of coal mined. The 10 cents goes to the fund. The plan calls for $100 a month pensions for miners age 62 with 20 years service who retired after May 28, 1946.

That was the date the government — then in possession of the mines — signed an agreement with Lewis establishing a welfare fund for the miners. The mine owners accepted the agreement for the welfare fund last year.

Columbia Ends

The whole country was under martial law and a state of siege imposed by the new coalition cabinet.

The revolt against President Mariano Ospina Perez' mainly Conservative government grew out of the fatal shooting Friday of Jorge Eliecer Gaitan, Liberal leader.

A new Conservative-Liberal cabinet headed by Liberal Dario Echandia as minister of government was formed Saturday and took office yesterday. The government claimed last night to have control.

Widespread Rioting

Barranquilla, Cartagena, Medellin and Cali were among cities outside Bogota reported to have suffered from rioting.

The capital itself was short of food for its 325,000 or so inhabitants and for conference visitors from 21 American republics. It waited to see whether workers, after a relatively quiet Sunday, would stay out today in a general strike begun with the rebellion.

The visitors, among them U. S.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall and Secretary of Commerce W. Averell Harriman, all were reported safe, many of them in Bogota's little disturbed residential sections.

Marshall Staying

But some, mostly women, already had been flown out of the stricken capital. Two United States C-54 transports returned to Albrook Field in the Panama Canal Zone last night with 86 passengers from Bogota. Thirty were U. S. women.

Reliable sources at the field said Marshall's C-54 and six other troop carriers would leave for Bogota early today, weather permitting, to bring back Marshall and others.

The latest pooled dispatch from correspondents in Bogota said, however, Marshall was reported "determined to stick it out to the end."

Capital Badly Damaged

Chief conference delegates issued a statement last night in the name of peace and American solidarity. It said they "declare their absolute determination to continue the important work with which the governments have charged them until they have fully completed the task of the assembly for which they were convened in Bogota."

The statement did not get out where or when the conference would continue. A pool dispatch from Balboa, C. Z., written by Milton Bracker of the New York Times after his arrival on an evacuation plane, said the conferees decided definitely yesterday to move soon to another city. Mexico City, Havana, Panama, Lima and Lake Success were suggested.

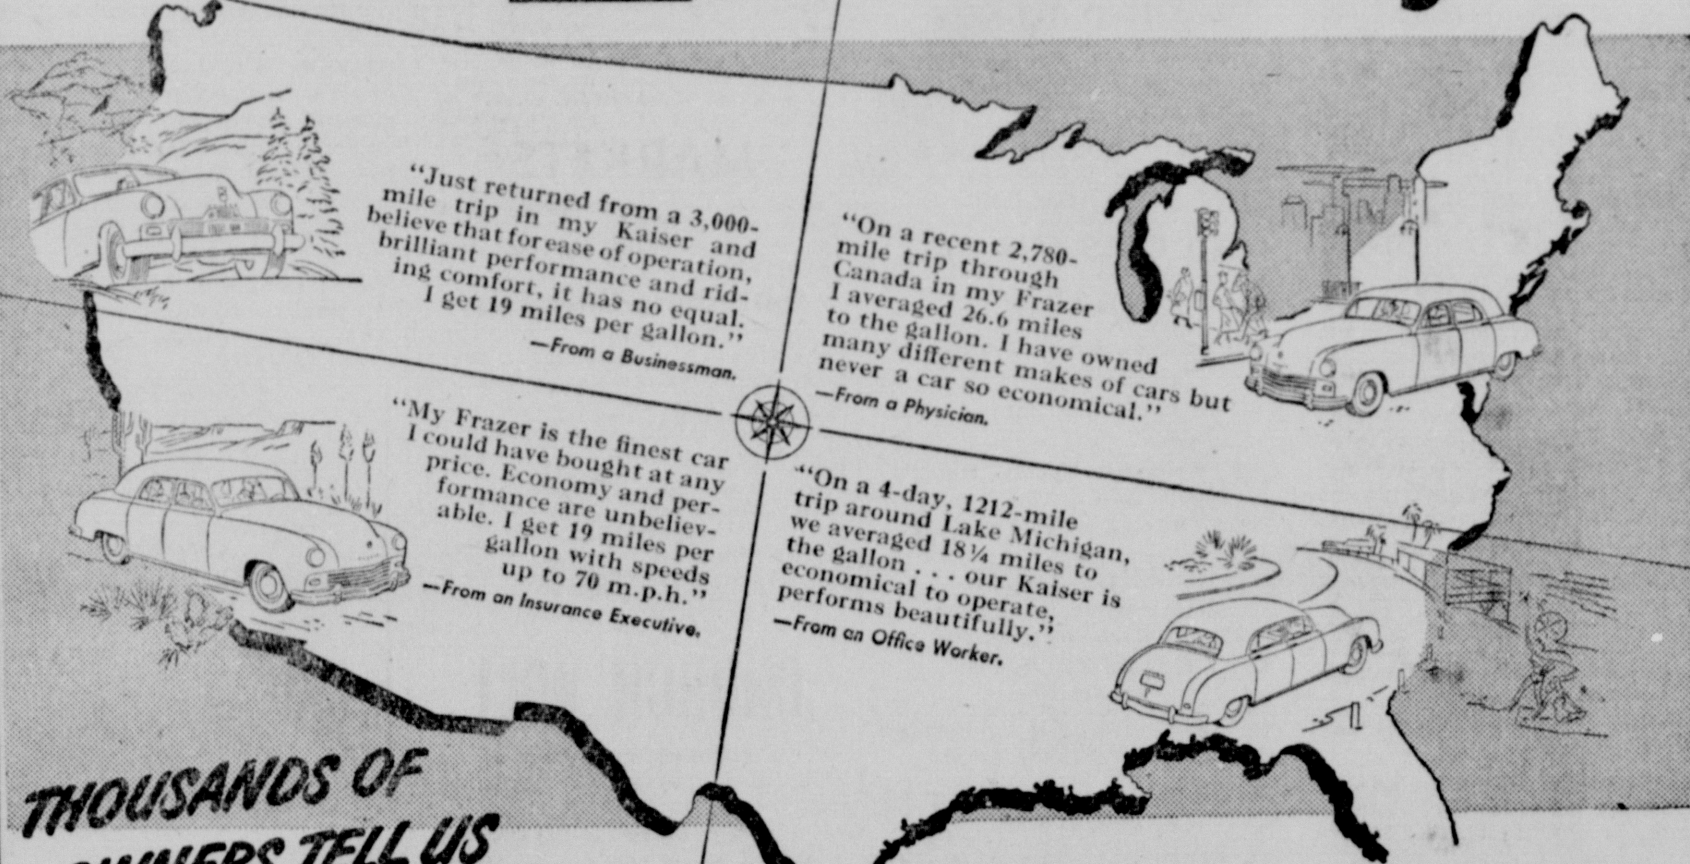

Bogota's food shortage was said to be the main reason for moving out the foreign women. Only 10 of the women employed by the U. S. delegation were left in the city.

Other circumstances affecting the fate of the conference were that the site, Colombia's capital, had been invaded by rioters, the interior wrecked and conference records destroyed.

ASK DIVORCE

Libels in divorce have been filed with the county prothonotary in these cases: Samuel G. Sollenberger, Gettysburg R. 2, against Ruth E. Sollenberger, address unknown, on a charge of desertion with Attorney Donald P. McPherson representing Mr. Sollenberger; and Olive O. Wolford, Baltimore street, against Albert R. Wolford, Gettysburg R. D. The charge is cruel and barbarous treatment. Attorney J. Francis Yake, Jr., represents Mrs. Wolford.

No matter what speeds they drive or roads they travel . . . Gasoline Bills are Lower in a KAISER or a FRAZER

How many more miles per gallon will you get from your 1948 Kaiser or Frazer? There is only one honest answer. Mileage varies with the speed you drive over the roads you travel. Four 1948 models now on display—at no increase in price! See them! You'll insist we let you drive one!

Top Economy for '48!—others claim it—Kaiser-Frazer delivers it! Among 1948 full-sized American motor cars, only the Kaiser and the Frazer have highest compression engines as standard equipment.
